Entrepreneurland Self Reflection: Mentorship

The moral of the chapter "The Gift" is that life's challenges and betrayals can be transformative opportunities for growth, learning, and future success, emphasizing the importance of evaluated experiences and mentorship.

These self-reflective prompts are meant to organize your thoughts and work for you.

Identify any mentor(s) in your life and elaborate on how they have guided you.

(I encourage you to reach out to your mentor(s) and express gratitude for their support)

Think about a time when you were in need of guidance, maybe even in darkness, what advice would you give your younger self?

Think about where you want to be in the future, once you get a pretty good visualization of that, think about some advice you would like to give that version of yourself.

Your reputation is being developed right now, who you surround yourself with matters. Create a list of personal values. When searching for mentorship or community, refer back to these values and check if they align.
